

Behavioural Support Rounds

Topic:

Early Onset Dementia

Presented by:

Morris Freedman, MD, FRCPC, FAAN

Dr. Morris Freedman is Head of Neurology and Medical Director of Cognition and Behaviour at Baycrest Health Sciences. He is a Professor, Division of Neurology, Department of Medicine, University of Toronto, and a scientist at the Rotman Research Institute of Baycrest Centre.

Dr. Freedman is carrying out research aimed at improving our understanding of the cognitive mechanisms underlying dementia due to Alzheimer's disease and frontotemporal dementia. His research also includes the development of cognitive assessment procedures in dementia, such as the Toronto Cognitive Assessment which was recently published in Alzheimer's Research & Therapy and the Object Alternation Test. In addition, he has special expertise in distance learning at a global level using videoconferencing, an area in which he has taken a major leadership role.

Learning objectives:

To discuss clinical presentation and management of early onset dementia

Baycrest Behavioural Support Rounds are open to all health professionals and students and provide a learning forum to review leading practices in the assessment and supportive management of challenging responsive behaviours in individuals living with dementia. The purpose is to offer practical approaches to support the work of front-line healthcare providers in caring for persons with responsive behaviours.

Accessible through Zoom, these rounds are co-sponsored by the Baycrest Toronto Central – LHIN Behaviour Support for Seniors Program and the Ontario Centres for Learning, Research and Innovation in Long-Term Care at Baycrest.

Your feedback is valued! Please submit your anonymous evaluation here after partaking in this event.

*These rounds occur every 2nd Tues of the month from Oct – June. Next Rounds: June 9th
